

Kenyon CEO Robert Jensen to Author Disaster Management Issues Blog

Jensen will post views on various subjects regarding disaster and emergency management

(Houston, Texas) Robert Jensen, President and CEO of Kenyon International Emergency Services will enter the fast-evolving world of the blogosphere as the author of a new blog that captures his views on the state of emergency and disaster management industry.

“I am looking forward to a new forum to start an open discussion on issues related to our industry,” said Kenyon International CEO Robert Jensen. “There are many serious issues that effect not only aviation, but a host of industries and governments worldwide. The internet and blogging is a great tool to discuss these issues and begin a dialog with other professionals to identity common problems and possible solutions.”

The new blog is one of several enhancements to the Kenyon website, including weekly news updates and streaming videos featuring views from Kenyon experts on important news regarding aviation incidents, recovery efforts and mass disaster issues. Log on www.kenyoninternational.blogspot.com to read Jensen’s blog.

More

Jensen Blog Add 1

About Kenyon International

Kenyon is an international leader in worldwide disaster management, providing pre-incident crisis planning and post-emergency response services on behalf of the world's foremost companies. Privately owned, Kenyon remains the only firm in its business with a hundred year history, comprehensive resources, and experience in every type of mass fatality accident including aviation disasters, natural disaster, war and terror attacks. Headquartered in Houston, Texas, it has offices and facilities in Sydney, Australia, London, UK, and Hong Kong.

##