Kenyon Launches New Website

(Houston, Texas) Robert A Jensen, CEO of Kenyon International Emergency Services Inc announced today the launch of a totally new website to serve the community of crisis managers. “The way that our clients, governments and the general public use the web for crisis management information is changing. Our new website is the most complete resource of reference material for emergency planners. It also assists citizens and response agencies to understand the complexity of international crises.”

After an 18 month redesign period Mr Jensen promised that the new website would meet the demands for a one-stop-shop of information, “our clients asked for relevant reference resources, they asked for best-practice guidelines and they asked for case studies to use in training. The Kenyon website meets these demands”.
